

Palestinians Speak Justice

Palestinians Speak Justice is a tour featuring prophetic Palestinian voices speaking truth to power: Tarek Abuata, executive director of Friends of Sabeel North America (FOSNA), and Rev. Naim Ateek, founder of the Sabeel Ecumenical Liberation Theology Center in Jerusalem, Palestine. Abuata will discuss how to live liberation theology by lifting up Palestinian voices and acting in solidarity with Palestinian calls for justice within the United States. Ateek will share insights from his newest book, A Theology of Palestinian Liberation. Their words and insights are especially crucial as the tour falls near the 70th anniversary of the Nakba.

They will be at St. Philip's Episcopal Church 403 E. Main Street, Durham NC on Sunday morning 20

May. Naim Ateek will preach at the 8, 9 and 11AM services and Tarek Abuata will take the 10AM Adult Forum on FOSNA's programs and their relationship with Palestinian calls to the international community as embodied in Christian Palestinian Liberation Theology.

The Chapel of the Cross at 304 E. Franklin Street, Chapel Hill, will host Naim Ateek for a 4:00PM discussion of his new book 'A Theology of Palestinian Liberation.' He will preach the 5:15PM Eucharist in the chapel of Chapel of the Cross with thanks to the Chapel of the Cross and the Coalition for Peace with Justice and the Salaam Shalom Committee of Church of Reconciliation for their support of this event.
